DETAILED ACTION

The restriction requirement dated 3/15/06 has been withdrawn, a new requirements follows. Applicant argues that the examination of this application as a whole is "without undue burden on the examiner". It is unclear why applicant believes this application containing 71 claims and 77 figures claiming numerous patentably distinct inventions is not a burden. This application recites a multiplicity of species of systems and methods that would require an unduly extensive and burdensome search.

Each patent is entitled to a single invention.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-34, drawn to method for intervertebral stabilization, classified in class 623, subclass 17.11.
- II. Claims 35-71, drawn to a system for stabilizing a spinal column segment, classified in class 623, subclass 17.12.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product wherein the expandable device is delivered by hand and not mounted on a distal portion of a delivery instrument.

See claim 1. Additionally, the expandable device could be used in a method wherein it is pre-expanded before insertion in the disc space.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Election of Species Requirement

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of systems (note that most embodiments were identified by applicant's specification in the brief description of the drawings):

- 1) figure 1
- 2) figure 9A
- 3) figure 13
- 4) figure 15

- 5) figure 21
- 6) figure 22
- 7) figure 23
- 8) figure 29
- 10) figure 33
- 11) figure 34
- 12) figure 35A
- 13) figure 38A
- 14) figure 41A
- 15) figure 44A
- 16) figure 48A

Additionally, applicant must elect one of the following patentably distinct approaches:

- 1) posterior
- 2) anterior
- 3) posterior-lateral
- 4) lateral

Additionally, elect a single device position as shown in the elected system figure (from above) or a separate single figure. The following are examples of different positions.

- 1-1) figure 18

1-3) figure 20

1-4) figure 41A

1-5) figure 44A

The species are independent or distinct because the embodiments vary in structure, function, and/or capabilities; they have patentably distinct elements.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).
